

History

Answer ONE of the following questions.

Whichever question you tackle, your aim should be to provide support for your argument from your own field of knowledge, wherever that may lie. There is no 'right' answer to any of the questions: your answer will be judged on the intelligence of your case, how clearly you make it and how effectively you support it. Each question is worth 25 marks.

1. Assess the social and/or political impact of violent conflict on any society you have studied.
2. 2014 is the hundredth anniversary of the outbreak of the Great War. Do historical anniversaries matter? Answer with reference to examples from your own historical studies.
3. 'Powerful personalities shape History': how far do you agree with the statement? Answer with reference to any historical period(s) with which you are familiar.
